

ABSTRACT

The present invention generally relates to diseases or conditions modulated by undesired protein expression. In one aspect, the methods provide for administration to a mammal, particularly a human, of a therapeutically effective amount of a carbocyclic aryl compound capable of modulating that undesired protein expression. Assays for detecting compounds having desired therapeutic capacity are also provided.